Our Deaf-Mute Typo.

WRITTEN FOR THE UTAH EAGLE BY NORMAN B. DRESSER.

[Mr. N. B. Dresser, the author of the following poem, is editor of the Utah Eagle. He has not only befriended the young deaf girl of whom he writes, but has taken under his kind care a blind boy, Murray Allen, whom he brought to our school some time ago. Mr. Dresser has a big heart.—THE EDITOR.]

Beside the old long primer case
Our young and silent typo stands,
A smile is on her pretty face,
A stick in her soft white hands.

I never hear the dear girl scold
Though proofs are scored and copy bad,
She is not saucy, loud or bold,
And "pi" doth never make her mad.

To gossip she is not inclined,
She never tells the "whiffest" lie,
And though of sympathetic mind
I never saw or heard her cry.

She does not talk to me of books,
Of poetry nor yet of prose,
And yet I know from her bright looks
Much of good literature she knows.

Nor have I heard her speak of art,
The colors of the sky and flower,
Yet surely such a gentle heart
Responsive beats to beauty's power.

No note of music does she sing,
But, oh! she dances with such grace!
Her pleasure in the waltz's swing
Is mirrored on her smiling face.

I never have cared to press my suit,
Although I see the low-light shine
In those bright eyes, and lips though mute
May yet give cupid's countersign!

Although each day this maid I see
She says no word from week to week;
You ask what is the mystery?
The dear girl cannot hear or speak.

Yet this is but a slight defect,
I cannot find it such to-day.
Our thought's exchange is scarcely checked—
We converse in a silent way.

For from her fluttering hand is spun—
With many a exhalant scroll—
The answering thought, and fingers run
To tell the message of the soul.

She does not know how blest her fate
Thus from the realm of sound shut in;
Unheard the tones of rage and hate,
And the rude world's discordant din.

The wailing of the tempest drear,
The thunder's loud and sudden roll,
Can never reach her muffled ear
Or shake with fright her quiet soul.

I fancy some celestial chamber
Of to that soul's still gleam steals,
And leaves a message—heavenly blest—
Which my dull sense ne'er hears or feels.

And when of earth her soul doth tire
And flows to yonder heavenly sphere,
She'll join the bright angelic choir
And heaven's sweet music she will hear.

And since the world's discordant voice
Has never fallen on her ears,
She will, methinks, the more rejoice
In the sweet music of the spheres.

RAFFERTY'S WAY.

The Brownlow and Henderson quarrel had risen to bitter heights when Nelly Henderson came home from the east. She threw herself impetuously on to her father's side of it and told herself that she hated young Brownlow, whom she had known so well before the days of the misunderstanding.

She was riding down a rocky defile. Her face was flushed, her arms weary, for she carried her pet lamb, Billy, an obstreperous favorite who ran away on every possible occasion.

Billy was seasick and rebellious, and when she stooped over her gate latch he wriggled out of her lap and jumped to the ground.

With an exclamation of impatience she dismounted and began a lively but vain chase. She was in despair when a tall figure appeared on the rocks above, and, taking him for one of the ranchmen, she called peremptorily for aid.

The newcomer darted down. A brisk, undignified scramble ensued, and Billy was placed, kicking and struggling, in her arms, while she herself faced Herbert Brownlow.

"I beg your pardon," she said, coldly. "If I had recognized you, I would never have given you this trouble."

"Don't apologize," returned her companion cheerfully. "I am very glad to have come to the rescue."

"There's no question of rescue," said Miss Henderson, ungraciously. "I would soon have had him. Billy is always easy to catch."

"Very easy," murmured the other, glancing at his scratched hands and frayed trousers.

"And please understand one thing," she continued—"if you ever hear me call for help, it doesn't mean you. It's bad enough to live close to people who steal from you under cover of the law!"

Here such an ominous expression came over his face that she stopped, rather frightened.

"Will you go on? I should like to hear the rest of the catalogue."

"Then you shall!" the girl cried recklessly. "You have stole a tract of our land. Your men have cut our fences and branded our strays."

"Are you aware," said Herbert calmly, "that the man from whom your father purchased that tract never owned it; that we paid hard money for it to the true possessor; that it was so proved in court. Your other charges are equally unfounded. In fact, the only instance round here of seizing other people's property has been the case of a certain pet lamb born on my father's ranch."

Miss Henderson clasped the outraged Billy closely.

"Have you the assurance to say my lamb was stolen from you?"

"I could prove it if I chose. But don't be alarmed. You are welcome to him, only it might make you a little more generous in your remarks about others."

"I never heard of anything so impertinent!" gasped Miss Henderson.

"You think because I am a girl you can call me a thief, but you shan't get off as easily as you imagine."

Two days later a man presented Herbert with a very dirty note which ran as follows:

Mr. Herbert Brownlow
you are hereby summoned to attend justice court on the seventeenth instant to answer for defaming the character of Miss Nelly Henderson. The case rests on the onerousness of white lambs the complainant has been accused of stealing the said lambs to the great injury of her feelings and Reputation. If you have any witnesses bring Those.
(Signed) FOSTER CAMPBELL J. P.

Foster Campbell represented all that Clark county knew of law. He owned a large copy of the code, in which he could not read a word, but this did not trouble him, as an old cripple whom he had befriended and who was termed clerk read his patron to sleep on the intricacies of the law every night.

The two principals in the trial reached the court, which was situated on the justice's piazza, at exactly the same time.

Miss Henderson looked with dismay at a large crowd of spectators. It dawned on her that it was Saturday and that every ranchman within fifty miles had taken a half day to see the trial.

"What are these horrid men doing here?" she exclaimed wrathfully as the justice helped her to alight. "I thought there'd be just you and me, the witnesses, and—"

and Mr. Brownlow. "I'll wait."

"Kain't do that," said the justice decidedly.

Brownlow stepped forward.

"I told Miss Henderson she could have the lamb. She may drop the whole affair if she chooses."

"She kain't," said the justice firmly. "Neither of you kin go nolle prossin' things around here like that. What begins in my court finishes."

"I intend to finish," said Miss Henderson, sweeping past Brownlow and taking the chair reserved for her.

The justice cleared his throat.

"The first case on docket is Miss Henderson versus Mr. Brownlow. Mr. Brownlow has aggrieved the complainant's feelin's by callin' her a thief!"

"That I never did," said Herbert angrily.

"This court is not used to interruptions," said the justice irritably. "This case will be determined by the lamb. If it proves to be Miss Henderson's, Mr. Brownlow will pay what damages the court sees fit. Is the lamb here?"

One of the Henderson ranchmen brought Billy forward.

"Miss Henderson," pursued the court, "will state her grounds for believin' the lamb hers."

The girl rose. She made so pretty a picture in her dark habit that Brownlow secretly cursed himself and Billy.

"Three weeks ago," she said clearly, "I wanted a pet lamb. As we have a few ewes on our place, I asked these men, who are trusted employees of my father, to get one for me. They brought me that lamb from one of our own ewes."

The two "trusted employees" referred to looked innocently around. They remembered—yes—but they now swore in unshaken chorus that the lamb was born on the Henderson place, where he had been a favorite from his birth.

They triumphantly retired, and Herbert came forward.

"The lamb," he said quietly, "was also a favorite of mine from his birth, so much so that you will find my brand under his throat."

There was a ripple of excitement. Billy was examined. There shone the brand with startling distinctness.

"May it please the court," said the county clerk, "that there brand could have been stuck on any time while the creature was runnin' round, which it did frequently."

"Shut up, Jim!" said the court brusquely. "Who you reckon is runnin' this case? Now, Mr. Brownlow, you seen you brand that sheep in your own yard?"

A Brownlow ranchman came forward. Unfortunately he was known for a liar, and the court, who were impressed by the brand, looked puzzled.

"Ain't there no more witnesses?" he demanded wearily, and when a negative ensued he sat thinking.

The clerk spoke out boldly:

"May it please the court, I kin tell all present how old Judge Rafferty established a precedent in such a case as this, way back when I was a youngster."

"Go on," said the court, much relieved.

"'Twas almost ezactly like this," wheezed the clerk, "only 'twas a sorrel colt 'stead of a sheep. The parties had knowed each other for some time. 'Twas Ann Hatfield an' Samuel Massey as claimed the colt, an' there they stood, the girl lookin' as sassey as you please at Massey. She were a pretty girl, though not so much so as Miss—"

"Keep to your argument," said the court abruptly.

"Well, Rafferty he couldn't decide, an' says he: 'No common law kin put on this matter,' says he. 'I kin turn to the Bible,' says he, 'which is a mighty good code in itself,' says he, 'an, follow the example of Jeremiah,' says he—'or was it Isaiah?'—who cut that unfortnit baby in two, says he. 'I'll just slice the colt in two,' says he, 'an' give you each half.'"

"At that Ann she gave a scream, an' her big blue eyes filled up pitiful. 'You kain't do that,' says he."

"Then," says Rafferty, 'we'll do my way—I'll marry you both out of hand, right here,' says he, 'an' there needn't be no more disputes over the lamb—colt, I mean—never no more.'"

A faint cheer arose. Miss Henderson sprang up.

"I'm going home," she declared chokingly. "I don't care what becomes of the lamb. I'll never touch him again. There's my purse," she added, flinging it into the justice's lap before he could rise. "If I owe anything, pay it."

She was in the saddle and galloping down the road before the court had time to recover.

"She's done spilt a real interestin' case," said the clerk regretfully. "It's goin' to be throwed out, after all. Here's the bill of costs, your honor. Mr. Brownlow will want to pay his share."

"Who's goin' to take the darned lamb?" cried the court. "Mr. Brownlow, you mount as well have him."

"I don't want him," said Herbert, with nearly as much repressed fury as Miss Henderson had shown.

"I kain't have him here," protested the alarmed justice. "It ain't legal to leave things on the court's hands, an', besides, he'll eat all my garden sass. Blast you!" he added to the clerk. "It's all your fault. She didn't like what you said about that old fool Rafferty."

A swift impulse decided Herbert to take the fat little creature and drop him in the Henderson yard.

Meantime Miss Henderson rode homeward, quite unconscious that she was an object of interest to two villainous looking horsemen who were passing that way after leaving the last town by request.

Not till their hands were on her reins did she realize her peril, and, strange to say, her cry for help was in Herbert's name. Riding just above her in the defile where he had first captured Billy, he heard her voice and came down on the marauders.

Before the impetus of Brown-low's horse the nearest thief went down, broncho and all. The other showed fight, and a brisk exchange of shots took place, but when the fallen one regained his horse and fled the braver rogue followed suit.

Sobbing with relief, Miss Henderson turned gratefully to her rescuer, who sat stiffly in his saddle, now clasping Billy across his broad chest.

"How generous and brave!" she cried eagerly. "I have been horrid to you. I just wanted to make you uncomfortable and—"

"Very well," said her escort briefly and curtly. "Shall we ride on?"

Miss Henderson complied. Under the influence of his abstracted and almost ungracious manner she felt her old grievance returning and held herself stiffly.

They rode on in silence until she perceived a great spot of crimson soaking through the wool of the patient Billy.

She cried out in pity.

"He's hurt. Let me take him."

"Yes, take him," said Brownlow indistinctly, and as she drew the lamb on her lap her escort pitched on his horse's neck with barely the strength to cling there blindly, and the horrified girl understood.

Billy was dropped with a swiftness that dazed him, and he stood helplessly gazing after the strange pair, for Miss Henderson had her arms around her enemy's shoulders and was desperately trying to hold him in the saddle until they could reach her father's ranchhouse.

But even this ride home was not so hard as facing the county clerk six months afterward and being congratulated that, after all, the case had been settled in "Rafferty's way."

The Board of Nine Trustees, having been elected, will take steps towards opening the Home at Doylestown.

Special Meeting of P. S. A. D.,
May 5, 1902.

In accordance with authority given, and pursuant to a call issued by the Trustees, a special meeting of the Pennsylvania Society for the Advancement of the Deaf was held, under the provisions of the amended charter of the Society, in the chapel of Wissinoming Hall, Pennsylvania Institution for the Deaf and Dumb, Mt. Airy, Philadelphia, on Monday evening, May 5th, 1902.

The meeting was called to order at 8:30, with R. M. Ziegler, President of the Board of Trustees, in the chair, and J. A. McIlvaine, Jr., Secretary of the same Board, serving as secretary.

The roll called showed an attendance of eighteen members, three more than the number constituting a quorum, and later several more appeared. Those who answered the roll were:

Misses Julia A. Foley, and Isabella Mahen, Mrs. Daniel Paul, Mrs. Geo. T. Sanders, Mrs. E. D. Wilson, Mrs. R. M. Ziegler, Dr. A. L. E. Crouter, Messrs. Ira Poorman, Daniel Paul, George T. Sanders, Thomas Breen, Fred. Buch, S. G. Davidson, Thomas E. Jones, J. A. McIlvaine, Jr., Henry R. Smith, E. D. Wilson, and R. M. Ziegler.

The secretary recited the amendments to the charter, and explained that the election of officers would be held agreeably to the same. He also read a statement from the "Board of Managers," under the original charter, approving the call issued by the Trustees for the special meeting, and, for the time being, leaving to them all legal transactions. The call, amendments and additions to the charter, and the statement, above mentioned, are herewith inserted:

CIRCULAR NOTICE.
To the Members of the Pennsylvania Society for the Advancement of the Deaf:

In accordance with authority conferred at a regular meeting of the Pennsylvania Society for the Advancement of the Deaf, the Trustees of the Society, last month, applied to the Court for certain amendments to the Charter of the Society, and their petition was granted by the Court on Monday, April 28th. Article Six of the Charter has been amended so as to read as follows:

"The government of the Corporation shall be vested in a Board of Twelve Managers, members of the Corporation and citizens of Pennsylvania. At a special meeting of the Corporation to be duly convened for the purpose immediately after the allowance of this amendment, twelve Managers shall be chosen in three classes of four members each; those chosen in the first class shall hold office until the annual meeting next ensuing; those chosen in the second class shall hold office until the annual meeting of Anno Domini 1903; and those chosen in the third class until the annual meeting of Anno Domini 1904; and at each annual meeting there shall be chosen four Managers to take place of those whose terms then expire, who shall hold office for three years, and until their successors be chosen."

"The Board of Managers shall annually elect from among their own number a President, two Vice-Presidents, a Secretary and a Treasurer, who shall be the officers of the Corporation. All the property of the Corporation, real and personal, shall be subject to the control and disposition of the Board of Managers, and the said Board shall have power to make by-laws for the government of the Corporation."

"The Board of Managers shall elect a Board of Trustees, who shall be governors of the Home. The Board shall consist of nine members; the first meeting of the Board of Managers after the adoption of this amendment, three Trustees shall be elected to serve for the term of one year; three to serve for the term of two years, and three to serve for the term of three years, and annually thereafter the Board of Managers shall elect three Trustees to take the place of those whose terms then expire, who shall hold office for three years and until their successors be chosen."

"The Board of Trustees shall have the care and management of the Home, and the custody of all securities and other property belonging or appertaining to the Home. The said Board shall have control of the Home and the regulation and government of the inmates thereof, also the appointment of all officers and employees of the Home, and the furnishing of supplies therefor. The said Board of Trustees shall appoint its own Treasurer, who shall have the custody and disbursement of the monies belonging to the Home."

The following Article Seven has been added to the charter:

"This being a Corporation not for profit, there shall be no capital stock. Any person who shall pay the sum of twenty dollars to the Treasurer of the Corporation, and comply with such rules and regulations for the admission of members as may be prescribed by the Constitution and By-Laws, shall become a Life Member of the Corporation, and any person paying annually the sum of at least fifty cents in like manner shall become an annual member."

Notice is hereby given that a special meeting of the Pennsylvania Society for the Advancement of the Deaf will be held in the chapel of Wissinoming Hall, Philadelphia, on Monday evening, May 5th, 1902, at 8 o'clock, for the purpose of electing twelve Managers in accordance with the above amendments to the above charter. Immediately after the adjournment of the special meeting of the Society, the Board of Managers will hold a meeting at the same place to elect their own officers, to decide upon the place and time of the next annual meeting of the Society. Then the new plan may go into operation at once.

The Board of Nine Trustees, having been elected, will take steps towards opening the Home at Doylestown.

R. M. ZIEGLER,
President Board of Trustees.

Attest:
J. A. McILVAINE, JR., Secretary.
April 28, 1902.

STATEMENT.
Having read and approved the call issued by the Board of Trustees, it becomes necessary for us to explain their action. Under the original charter, the present "Board of Managers" does not exist legally, therefore the legal right to call a special meeting of the Society belongs to the Trustees, so that the provisions of the amended charter may be carried out.

In view of the fact that the officers of the present "Board of Managers" were duly elected by the Society at the last convention, held in Philadelphia in 1901, we recommend the retention of these officers until the new Board of Managers, to be elected at the special meeting, organizes.

President "Board of Managers."
G. M. TEEGARDEN, Secretary.
April 28, 1902.

Communications were read from Mr. B. R. Allabough and Mr. Jas. S. Reider, both expressing regret at their inability to be present at the meeting, and wishing the Society an auspicious beginning under the new charter.

On motion of Mr. S. G. Davidson, seconded by Mr. E. D. Wilson, the Chairman was instructed to appoint a nomination committee of three. For this purpose Mr. Davidson, Mr. Poorman and Mr. Sanders were appointed.

While the nomination committee was out preparing the ticket for Board of Managers, Mr. Ziegler, the chairman, made some remarks relative to the necessity for the amendments and additions to the charter. Dr. Crouter followed with a few words pertaining to the charter, the Home and the Society, congratulating the Society on the work already accomplished, and expressing his belief in the success of the Home.

The committee on nominations then presented their ticket for Board of Managers of the Society:

First Class, to serve until the annual meeting in 1902, F. W. Booth, J. A. McIlvaine, Jr., Thomas Breen and R. E. Underwood.

Second Class, to serve until the annual meeting in 1903, R. M. Ziegler, Daniel Paul, Henry Barden and Reinhart Fritzsche.

Third Class, to serve until the annual meeting in 1904, B. R. Allabough, G. M. Teegarden, Jas. S. Reider and Archibald Woodside.

A motion by Miss Foley, seconded by Miss Mahen, was to the effect that the whole ticket, as presented, be elected unanimously, and that the Secretary cast the vote. Passed without discussion, and the whole ticket was elected accordingly, Henry R. Smith serving as teller.

At this juncture, the members present were given an opportunity to express their preference as to the place of holding the next convention. The general opinion coincided with that of a majority of the Local Branches, i.e., that it be held in Philadelphia instead of Carlisle, as was agreed upon at the last convention.

Mr. Breen moved that a rising vote of thanks be tendered to Dr. Crouter for the use of the chapel for holding the meeting, and this was done with a hearty good will.

The concluding business was a motion by Mr. Davidson to thank the "Board of Managers" and Trustees, under the original charter, for their faithful and efficient service. This the Society also readily consented to, and at 9:30 the meeting adjourned.

MEETING OF THE BOARD OF MANAGERS, MAY 5, 1902.

Immediately after adjournment of the special meeting of the Pennsylvania Society for the Advancement of the Deaf, held in Wissinoming Hall, Pennsylvania Institution for the Deaf and Dumb, the newly elected Board of Managers met at the residence of Mr. F. W. Booth, Rural Lane, Mt. Airy, and organized as follows:

President, B. R. Allabough;
First Vice-President, R. M. Ziegler;
Second Vice-President, Archibald Woodside; Secretary, G. M. Teegarden; Treasurer, James S. Reider.

Having thus organized, and the President and Secretary both being absent, First Vice-President, R. M. Ziegler occupied the chair, and J. A. McIlvaine, Jr., was appointed Secretary pro tem.

The Secretary pro tem read communications from William Stuckert, Esq., and Mr. John Hart, President of the Doylestown Trust Company, in which both expressed a willingness to become trustees of the Home, the gentlemen in question both being residents of Doylestown, Pa.

The matter of electing nine Trustees of the Home was then taken up. Mr. Breen presented a ticket to be voted for, and there being no discussion, Mr. Paul moved that it be elected unanimously, the Secretary pro tem to cast the ballot. Seconded by Mr. Booth, carried, and the following gentlemen were elected:

To serve one year: B. R. Allabough, G. M. Teegarden and John Hart.

To serve two years: A. L. E. Crouter, William Stuckert and S. G. Davidson.

To serve three years: F. W. Booth, R. M. Ziegler and J. A. McIlvaine, Jr.

In the matter of deciding on a change of place for holding the next convention, Mr. Breen suggested that the wishes of a majority of the Local Branches of the Society be considered, which was done, and in accordance therewith, it was finally the unanimous choice of the Board to hold the next meeting in Philadelphia, instead of Carlisle, as had been decided on at the last convention. The time of holding the convention was fixed as August 21, 22 and 23, 1902.

Mr. Paul moved that the Secretary be instructed to procure a new minute book, for the reason that the proceedings of the Society would thereafter be conducted under the provisions of the amended charter, and that the minutes to be entered in the new book begin with those of the special meeting of the Society held previously, the same evening. Carried. Adjourned 10:40 P.M.

Silk Made From Cotton.

These are days when even poor men's wives wear silks, or at all events goods that bear a close likeness to those costly fabrics. Immense quantities of the new-style cotton goods which have the appearance of the product of the silkworm are being put on the market, and the sale of them, under various trade designations, has grown astonishingly.

Although this invention, known as the "mercerizing process," has become of practical importance only recently, it is by no means new. So far back as the year 1844, John Mercer ascertained that vegetable fibres, exposed to strong acids and alkaline lyes, are chemically changed in such a manner as to strengthen them greatly, while giving to them the glossy look of silk. At the same time, however, a shrinkage of about fifty per cent. was caused, and on this account it was decided that there would be no economic advantage in utilizing the discovery.

Since then it has been found that the shrinkage may be prevented by applying the mercerizing solution, of caustic potash or caustic soda, to the cottons while under tension, and that this may be done either with the spun yarn or with the woven material. The stuff is subjected to the treatment until the peculiar lustre appears, and then the fluid is washed away.

As a result of the process, the goods are modified in three ways. They acquire the silky look, they become very much stronger, so as to better resist tearing, and they take dyes more readily and satisfactorily, this last point being due to the affinity that exists between the caustic alkali and the coloring substances. Under the circumstances, it is not surprising that this imitation of silk should have found such favor in the market, its employment for linings being especially widespread, inasmuch as the fashion of the day demands silk linings, or what appear to be such, even for the simplest cloth gowns.

A firm in Lyons, France, takes advantage of the shortening of cotton fibres under non-mercerized treatment by caustic potash to produce in silk webs certain peculiar and very rich embossed effect. The silken webs have cotton threads at fixed distances, which, when the chemical solution is applied, shrink, while the silk, keeping its original length, is gathered in tiny folds. In this way the most diversified patterns are produced.

If the United States were as densely peopled as San Salvador, the smallest of American States, the population would be 350,000,000.

THROUGHOUT the scholastic year at Fanwood are interspersed a series of "red letter" days, to carry out some line of commemorative work, or to exhibit the attainments of the pupils gained through the course of training at the school.

Each recurring third Tuesday of May, after the election of Officers and Directors and Life Members, and the inspection of the various departments of the school in its daily routine, there is a competitive drill by the cadets, on the stretch of greensward just east of the academical building. This custom was begun about five years ago, and was one of the gradual transitions that followed the nondescript attire of an earlier period. In other words, the uniform in dress was the forerunner of symmetry of carriage and uniformity and precision of movement en masse.

How well the cadets acquit themselves in the military feature of their school life has been shown in previous years, and this year especially when they earned the plaudits of the multitude at the Military Tournament in Madison Square Garden during the month of March.

On Tuesday last, at three o'clock in the afternoon, the cadet battalion of three companies stood at "attention" ready to execute the commands that would develop the individual winners of the Russell Gold Medals, in which all exhibit such a keen and eager rivalry to win.

Brigadier-General George Moore Smith, N. G. N. Y., with two members of his staff—Major Gouverneur Morris Carnochan and Captain Arthur West Little, were the reviewing officers, and while they were very strict, it pleased the cadets greatly to be examined by those so competent to detect their merits and point out their errors. It is also a cause of special congratulation to the school that these military men of national reputation and prominence should be so deeply interested in the development of the military feature of the school.

This year the inauguration of a drum corps, led by a drum major, was especially pleasing and successful. The whole battalion kept step to the rattle of the snare-drum and the deep bass of the big drum. Of course, they could not hear it, but it is well-known that a stone-deaf person can feel the vibrations of a drum at a long distance.

Comment on the excellence of Tuesday's performance by the Fanwood cadets is quite unnecessary, as the praise bestowed on them by Brigadier-General Smith and his staff, sufficiently attests the high degree of perfection they have reached.

North Carolina Institution.

The Board of Directors of the School for the Deaf and the Blind met in annual session Monday evening, May 12th. The attendance was unusually large, every member being present but one. It was the occasion for the election of officers and teachers. Mr. John E. Ray, the principal, was re-elected for a term of three years, and the other officers and teachers for one year respectively. There have been no new teachers elected. The board is seeking in every legitimate way to economize in the matter of expenses, but not at the cost of efficiency.

The attendance during the present session has been very large, and in many ways this has been a most satisfactory year. The principal reports every department doing very gratifying work. The recent inspection committee of the Board of Directors, which makes a most thorough examination into every part of the work of the school every month, presented a most pleasing report of their last visit to both departments at the meeting Monday night, and the musical director, Prof. John A. Simpson, in his annual report, says of the music department: "The work of the year has been carried on thus far under more favorable conditions in some respects than ever before, owing largely to the recent purchase of six good pianos and to the advantage afforded by our new music building."

The school has been using the new printing and stereotyping machine, and there have been turned out several products, including a music primer in the "point print." This machine is operated by Mr. Thomas Hughes, a totally blind man, and he has shown much skill and ingenuity in its operation. The kindergartners, Misses Crow and Newsom, have prepared a phonetic primer upon the principles laid down in Professor Moses' Phonetic Readers, and it has been published in the raised "line print" for the blind by the American Printing House for the Blind. The superintendent of the printing house pronounces it a most excellent production, and it will be used in many other schools for the blind throughout the country.—Raleigh, N. C., Post, May 14.

ST. LOUIS.

The annual meeting of the Gallaudet Union was held on the evening of the 16th inst., at the Schuyler Memorial House, 1210 Locust Street. The following officers were chosen for the ensuing year: President, Miss Pearl Herdman (re-elected); Vice-President, Miss Selma Schiwer (re-elected); Secretary, Mr. Charles Haig; Treasurer, Miss Clara L. Steidemann.

The literary feature of the evening was an excellent declamation of Patrick Henry's famous "Give me liberty or give me death" speech, by Mr. Charles Jones. Mr. Rodenberger made a few remarks bearing upon the life and service of the late Mr. John Guy Stuart, after which Mr. Haig presented the following memorial, which was adopted:

WHEREAS, In the course of events, the St. Louis Gallaudet Union for the Advancement of the Deaf has lost by death, an active and worthy member in the person of John Guy Stuart, who departed this life, May 1st, 1902, in the 28th year of his age, and

WHEREAS, His manly qualities, noble, generous and kindly disposition, warm sympathies, interest and zeal in every good cause, characterized his career as a member of this Union; therefore, be it

RESOLVED, That our heartfelt sympathy be, and hereby is tendered to the bereaved relatives in the time of their great affliction and great sorrow, and further be it

RESOLVED, That a copy of these resolutions be forwarded to the parents of the deceased, to the New Era at his Alma Mater at Jacksonville, Illinois, and recorded on a memorial page of this Union.

The Union decided to have its annual picnic in accordance with the following programme prepared by Misses Herdman, Schiwer, Messers. Haig, Rodenberger and Hunter.

THE GALLAUDET UNION PICNIC will be given at Hashagen's Park, 3 Grand Ave and Merance St.,

Saturday, June 7, 1902.
Gates open from 8 A.M. to 7 P.M.
Admission 25 cents.
Children under 12—free.

ORDER OF EVENTS.
10 A.M. Baseball Game—Boys vs. Ill.
2 P.M. Orange Race—Boys (under 12).
One Legged Race—Girls (8-12).
Three Legged Race—Gentlemen.
Egg Race—Ladies.
Sack Race—Boys.
Banana Race—Girls (under 14).
Sewing Contest—Gentlemen.
Doughnut Eating Contest—Ladies.
Handwriting Contest—Gentlemen.
Handkerchief Race—Ladies.
Cake Walk Contest.

Prizes will be awarded to winners of each contest.
Dinner and refreshments served on the grounds.
Take Grand Avenue cars going south.
Come and spend a pleasant day.

The Union further decided to give an "opening hop" at De Honey's Dancing Academy, 3944 Ohio Street, from 8 P.M. until midnight on Saturday, September 13th. This will enable the Gallaudet boys, who have been plowing all summer, to get the kinks out of their legs before returning to college.

The next regular meeting of the Union will be on September 19th.

The anniversary of the organization of St. Thomas' Mission will be celebrated at the Schuyler Memorial House, 1210 Locust Street, Saturday, May 31st, from 5:30 until 10:00 P.M. The feature of the evening will be a "donation supper" from six to eight, which will be under the management of Mrs. E. Harden and her army of assistants.

Gives all to Charity.

Prof. Kerney has published an Evansville edition of the Silent Worker, a paper for the deaf and dumb printed at Trenton, N. J. The greater part of the edition is devoted to an account of the life of Evansville's deaf, dumb and blind boy, John Walsh. Mr. Kerney received $700 for his work on the paper, all of which he gives to Mr. Walsh to enable him to enter a sanitarium at Chicago, Ill.

GALLAUDET COLLEGE.

Five Games of Base Ball.

SILVER CUPS ARRIVE.

Brevities.

From our Regular Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 18th, 1902.—Five games of baseball were played last week. The first one came off with Villa Nova College last Tuesday afternoon, and resulted, contrary to expectations, in a defeat, 6 to 1. The game progressed all right in the first few innings, but had breaks later on set the whole team on fire and they threw and ran in every conceivable direction. Only six innings were played, on account of the rain. Thursday evening, the team left for Bloomsburg, Pa., where they played State Normal College on Friday, and Bucknell University on Saturday, at Lewisburg. Both resulted disastrously for us, the score in the first game being 11 to 3, and in the second, 16 to 2. The large batch of errors were responsible for the defeats. The Gallaudet's stick work was all that could be desired, as also the pitching of Rosson and McDonough. Two more games abroad will close the season, which has been about as bad as last year's. The fourth game was played on the home grounds, between two picked teams, and was a regular pantomime or comedy of errors. Nevertheless, it furnished plenty of amusement to all present. The umpire, as usual, belonged to the tenth class; the attendant results of his decisions produced no end of merriment for the onlookers. The fifth game was pulled off Saturday, between the former members of the second team and the sub-Facs.

This game was a little better than that of the previous day. There was another attraction for the spectators that afternoon. The E. H. S. track and field team had the use of the grounds at the same time so that when one became tired of either one contest, he could watch the other. Anyhow, both attractions were of a mediocre sort, and only helped to while away the time. As no more home games by the first team are to be played, it is hoped that students will give us more exhibitions before the close of college.

The Literary Society held a meeting last Friday evening. The writer was unable to be present, so he cannot make any remarks. But several of the members who were present informed the scribe that the program was very interesting. The majority concluded that the victory should have been given to the Negatives. Professor Hall interpreted Prof. Chickering's lecture.

The program:
"PERFECT MANHOOD," Prof. J. Chickering. Debate—"RESOLVED, That the United States should abandon the Philippines."
Affirmative—Mr. Friedman, '04.
Negative—Mr. Winston, I. C. Mr. Hoffmaster, I. C.
DIALOGUE "Ha! Am I King? But Edward lives." Messrs. Flick, '03, and Phelps, '05.
DECLARATION, "Hohenlinden." Mr. Schulte, '04.
CRITIC'S REPORT, Mr. Steidemann, '02.

A rather painful accident happened to President Gallaudet, daughter and grand-daughter. While they were out driving in a cart it came into close proximity of a heavy wagon. The hub of the cart wheel was forced up above that of the wagon, thereby causing the cart to upset. Miss Gallaudet became entangled in the reins and was dragged some distance before the horse was stopped. Dr. Gallaudet himself escaped intact, while his grand-daughter received a cut on the chin. It is really a miracle that the accident did not result more seriously.

Two students have left for home the past week. The first was Robert M. Kleberg, '05, to Galveston, Texas, where his mother is dangerously ill, and the second was Victor R. Spence, '03, to St. Paul, Minn., where he has secured a temporary position with the Chicago & Great Western Railroad. Both had signified their intentions of returning in the fall. Another student has made up his mind to leave college for good, and is only awaiting a favorable opportunity to skip off.

Official photographer Flick, '03, is rather busy these days. Kendall Green is once more clothed in all that enchanting verdure of which the poets have sung since the days of Homer, and the woodland songsters may be pouring forth their melodies for all we know. But it is not music in the air that tempts us out, for being deaf, all that sweetness is wasted on dead ears. It is the beauty, the fragrance, and the cool retreats that attracts us. Naturally such a place should be an ideal spot where to take group and individual pictures.

Winfield E. Marshall, '04, was to have gone to New York last Friday to take part in a bicycle race for the championship of the colleges, but a change of date kept him here. He says he will go May 30th, and hopes to do better than last year.

If anybody will pass Room 6 on the first floor, where the aukophone is kept, he will see students practicing on it daily. No satisfactory results have as yet been reported and we wonder if any will in the near future.

A good many of the Co-eds have new buff and blue flags. The designs are handsome and at the game last Tuesday, they were proudly waved when our men made brilliant plays.

The cups which were won by the relay team at Philadelphia have arrived and are beautiful affairs. Below is the inscription on each cup:—

Univ. of Penn.
8TH
ANNUAL RELAY RACES
1902

ST. JOHN, WESTERN MARYLAND, GALLAUDET, WESTMINSTER, DELAWARE, JOHN HOPKINS.

The name of Columbian University was omitted. "Third Prize" should also have been inscribed thereon. The cups are of polished silver and smaller than last year's.

The G. C. A. A. board has decided to enter some men in the track contests to be held by the Y. M. C. A. at Van Ness Park, next Saturday. The special event will be a relay race between Gallaudet, Columbian and Maryland A. C. Mr. Roberts, '04, will enter the mile-run event, Phelps, '05, the hundred yard dash; Strong, the two hundred and twenty yard dash; Northern, '02, the mile and half-mile run; Erd and Stevens, '05, the quarter mile run. Tickets are twenty-five cents and can be had of Manager Erickson, '03. A pretty big attendance from the Green is likely to be present.

Saturday evening there was a literary meeting of the O. W. L. S. behind closed doors as usual, and the only thing that is given to the public is the following:

1. Essay, "Life of George Elliott."
2. The Triumph and Defeat of the Trusts.
3. Uncle Sam.....Miss Webster, '03.
4. Beef Trust.....Miss Goeblin, '04.
5. Steel Trust.....Miss Hall, '05.
6. Oil Trust.....Miss Collins, I. C.
7. Railroad Trust.....Miss Allen, '03.
8. Starvation.....Miss Fish, '05.
9. Story.....Miss Garrity, I. C.
10. Dialogue, "Betrayal of Leah."
11. Groom.....Miss Ritchie, '03.
12. Jeweled Wreath.....Miss Widdowson, '04.
13. Recitation, "Hiawatha's Wedding.".....Miss Swift, '05.
14. A German Legend, Miss Anderson, I. C.
15. Declaration, "The Mute's Lament,".....Miss Hansen, '04.

Miss De Long, '02, was up to Baltimore for a brief stay at her cousin's last week.

Last Thursday, Miss Ritchie, '03, gave a party in honor of Mrs. Stevens, of Philadelphia, Pa., who has been visiting her for a few days. The Seniors and Juniors, besides Mrs. Hall, Miss Peet and Miss Patterson, were invited. A delightful time was reported.

Miss Peet has a friend, Miss Greiss, of Mt. Airy, visiting her. Saturday evening she gave a party in honor of her guest, inviting the members of the Faculty and their wives.

A good many of the students had to eat late dinners last Thursday, because a meeting of the students was called in the dining room while the collegians were at dinner. The presiding officer roared like thunder when a few ventured to keep one eye on their dearly beloved college grub, and the other on what was transpiring. Lots of motions were made and plenty of arguing was also patiently listened to. The result—nil. The same evening another meeting was called while the students were feasting on those tempting harbingers of summer—strawberries. The discussions of the noon meeting were resumed by only a few, the rest thought more of their strawberries. Repeated attempts to get their attention failed, so the presiding officer said, "If you propose to let me go to—I will let you go there too, and this whole business be hanged." Then he quickly hastened to his strawberries. In this wise does this college world often wag.

BROOKLYN GUILD.

The Entertainment Committee wants it to be known through the JOURNAL that they have decided to have a Strawberry Festival, on Wednesday, June 11th, 1902, at 8 P.M., at St. Mark's Chapel, Adelphi Street near DeKalb Avenue, in aid of the Brooklyn Guild of Deaf-Mutes. No pains will be spared to make it highly enjoyable to every one who goes there to support the worthy cause.

The programme is expected to be a very interesting one, and will be a purely social reunion.

Bring both old and new friends, and let them have a most pleasant time. Come one! Come all! Buy the tickets from any member of the Brooklyn Guild, or at the door.

Members' Day at the Institution.

RUSSEL MEDAL WINNERS.

General George Moore Smith Gives Rewards of Merit.

(From the Regular Correspondent.)

The annual drill for the Archibald D. Russell medals for the highest proficiency in the school of the soldier, was held last Tuesday afternoon, the 20th of May. It was Members' Day, and quite a number of the Directors of this Institution came here. After they had finished their business meeting, a tour of inspection of the school was made, in which they saw it in its regular every day routine. The following officers were elected:

PRESIDENT.

CHARLES AUGUSTUS STODDARD.

FIRST VICE-PRESIDENT.

MORRIS K. JESUP.

SECOND VICE-PRESIDENT.

JOHN T. TERRY.

TREASURER.

EDWARD M. TOWNSEND.

SECRETARY.

THATCHER M. ADAMS.

DIRECTORS.

To serve for three years, or until the third Tuesday of May, 1905.

MORRIS K. JESUP.

EDWARD M. TOWNSEND.

THATCHER M. ADAMS.

SAMUEL R. BETTS.

JAMES O. SHELDON.

WARREN E. DENNIS.

EDWIN LANGDON.

ARCHIBALD D. RUSSELL.

To serve until the third Tuesday of May, 1904.

In place of Avery T. Brown (deceased).

JULIAN W. ROBBINS.

At three o'clock, the assembly call was sounded by the drum corps, and the battalion assembled in the boys' yard. Each cadet was dressed in his neat grey uniform, with white collars and gloves. Each face was eager, and all were bent upon winning the medals. At morning it had been raining, but at about half past two o'clock it stopped, and the rest of the afternoon was clear. The boys first went through battalion parade and review, and then the competitive drill began. The judges were Brigadier-General George Moore Smith, N. G. S. N. Y., and two members of his staff, Major Carnochan and Captain Little. They had a rather hard time for so many did very near equally well, and a still harder one when there were only three remaining and the winner had to be chosen. The winners are:

Co. A.—Sergeant Vernon Birk. Co. B.—Sergeant Alex. Knipe. Co. C.—Private Edward Ohland.

Last year General Smith gave silver medals to the two boys who came next to the winner, and was again moved to order medals for the boys who were so nearly equal to the winners. Those who get them this year are:

Privates Jacob Schwartz and Henry Droppe, of Company A. Corporal Anton Tanzas and Private Chaim Schatzkin, of Company B. Privates Bruno Dornblut and George Gompers, of Company C.

The medals will be presented to the winners at the Commencement, which will come off on Tuesday afternoon, June 10th.

A large number of visitors were present, among whom were many old graduates and former pupils of this school. The drum corps made their first appearance before such a large gathering, and their excellent performance surprised everyone.

On Saturday afternoon, the Fanwoods met the team from the New York Collegiate School on the diamond, and defeated them by the score of 14 to 10 runs. The game was a very interesting and clean one from start to finish. Both teams had excellent pitchers, and the rest of the players supported them very well. The game was played on the Bailey grounds. The grounds have been spoiled to a considerable extent, by having part of a proposed street cut through it, but the boys worked all morning that day fixing it up; and by the time the game came off, it was in fair condition. The Collegiates put up a good game, and though beaten, they have not given up all hope. Another game will be arranged in the near future, if it can be done.

Other baseball games of minor importance were played on the boys' campus during the past week. Captains "Doyle" Van Tassell's team beat "Van Haulten" Cook's in a three-inning game by 14 to 4 runs. A team of the other trades came out victorious over the Printers, the score being 8 to 6. The Corporals and Privates also played a game, in which the latter won by 22 to 17.

Mr. Isaac B. Gardner entertained the members of the Fanwood Literary Association, in the chapel last Saturday evening, with a lecture. His subject was "St. Pierre." He gave an interesting account of the destruction of the ill-fated city, St. Pierre. He also described the causes of volcanic eruptions and earthquakes. His lecture was the last on the program, and thus closed one of the most successful years in the history of the Fanwood Literary Association.

On Sunday morning, May 18th, Captains Renner, Stern, Zwoffe and Adjutant Powell, accompanied by Major Van Tassell, went over to the Hebrew Orphan Asylum, situated at 138th Street and Amsterdam Avenue, and reviewed the boys of that Asylum, at battalion parade. Later on they were taken all over the buildings on a tour of inspection. It was a pretty interesting trip. The boys of that Asylum wore no uniforms, but nevertheless they drilled very well.

Misses M. K. Turner and M. Archibald, of the Lexington Avenue School, were visitors on Wednesday, the 14th inst. Sunday was the last visiting day of the season. The day was a very fine one, and a very large number of friends and relatives came to see the pupils. There were also a good number of graduates present. At three-thirty o'clock the boys went through battalion parade and review. The reviewing officer was Colonel Currier.

Messrs. Van Tassell and Hanson are becoming interested in horse-flesh. Sunday morning they honored (?) the Speedway with their presence.

TRIES TO BURN COTTAGE.

A well dressed man, writing his name as John F. Maloney, of Hudson, N. Y., is locked up in the Mount Vernon police station on the charge of arson.

Detective George Atwell found him last night standing in a second-story bedroom in an unoccupied cottage owned by Mrs. Naomie Duncombe, at No. 545 South Fifth Avenue, watching a fire burn in the centre of the apartment.

The police say he had a big pile of paper burning, and evidently intended to burn up the house and himself. He is a mute, and at the station he wrote on a piece of paper: "Used matches and paper, fire." It is believed he is insane.—N. Y. American and Journal.

TROY-ALBANY NOTICE.

The committee on the annual picnic of the deaf of eastern New York will meet in the Sunday School room of St. Paul's Chapel, Troy, on Saturday evening, May 24, at 7:30 P. M. All persons interested are invited to be present and given the committee the benefit of their suggestions.

NEW JERSEY.

On May 4th, Timothy McCarthy, formerly of Philadelphia, and later of Brooklyn, celebrated his fiftieth birthday, in Belleville, N. J. The mere fact that Mr. McCarthy had reached the age of half a century was not so strange in itself. The strange part of the celebration was the silence which prevailed during the entire time of the celebration, which lasted for many hours. Notwithstanding the fact that not only Mr. and Mrs. McCarthy, but some ten invited guests were present, toasts were drunk and birthday gifts showered upon Mr. McCarthy, not a word was spoken. Under such circumstances as these one would naturally suppose that there was ill-feeling existing between the members of the company. Not so, however, for a merrier party never sat down together to a birthday feast, and the entire company exchanged smiling glances repeatedly.

The reason for the silence which marked the occasion was that the party was composed of deaf-mutes. With rapid manipulation of fingers, a smile, the uplifting of an eye or a shrug of the shoulder, the members were in communication with one another. Wit and humor flew from fingers' tips to attentive eyes around the table, and smiling faces greeted each fresh salutation.

Mr. McCarthy, who is a wire weaver by trade, was born in Tipperary, Ireland. From 1860 to 1866, when he left for this country, he attended St. Joseph's Catholic Deaf and Dumb Institute at Dublin. He learned his trade, and has worked in all the large wire factories in this country. He located at Belleville several years ago and obtained employment at the Eastwood plant. A year ago January 27, he was married to a young deaf and dumb woman of Orange, at St. Peter's R. C. Church of Jersey City, by the Rev. Father Corbett, and after a short wedding trip returned to Belleville, where he went to housekeeping in Main Street. Tim, who is of a very genial disposition, is well liked in Belleville.—Newark Advertiser.

A SURPRISE PARTY.

It is with pleasure that the announcement is made through the JOURNAL that Misses Mary Lewis and Helen Dugdale, of Albany, the "Capital City," both so popular and hospitable in all respects, invaded once more a genuine surprise, but pleasant and agreeable occasion at the home of Mr. John L. Connerton, to Mrs. J. L. Connerton, of 149 President Street, Upper Troy, Saturday afternoon last, the 17th inst. There were about thirty-five in all at the party. Every one of them seemed hale and hearty. Speeches were then in order by several of the company. Some were at least excitedly discussing the questions in regard to the coming convention, while others were talking of various humorous things. Just at this time, several games, such as a game of animals, and others, were played, but one of the favorite games to the deaf was "donkey's tail," that put all in the best of merriment.

Then at a late hour, all were favorably invited to a long table, where various delicious things delighted their eyes. All remained longer, until one by one or more, retired to their homes after wishing one another for the future best wishes, and bade all good-bye.

News of the Week.

News items for this column should be sent direct to the DEAF-MUTES' JOURNAL, Station M, New York.

The event of the past week was the arrival in this city of M. Fernand Hamar, the French sculptor, whose statue of Rochambeau is to be unveiled in Washington on Saturday. He was accompanied by M. Henri Mercier, a deaf-mute of Eprenay, whose brother Emil is known to many who attended the World's Fair in Chicago in 1893. They arrived with the distinguished guests of the nation from Paris, on the Touraine last Saturday.

Messrs. Hodgson and Fox called on them in the evening of that day, and escorted them to the rooms of the League of Elect Surds, where they received a cordial welcome from twenty or more members who were present.

Next day, escorted by M. Montillie, they visited Central Park and the Museum of Fine Arts, and then to St. Ann's Church for Deaf-Mutes, and after the service made a snapshot of the interior, and afterwards a group in front of the sacred edifice. Accompanied by Messrs. Fox, J. Fitzgerald, E. Elsworth, and Hodgson, they visited Grant's Tomb, and after dinner inspected some of New York's famous hostilities.

On Monday night, Messrs. Hamar and Mercier were given a complimentary dinner by the League of Elect Surds. The menu was handsomely gotten up, being a hand painted design of the French and American flags intertwined, set off with scroll work and illuminated in a most artistic style. The whole was done in extra-rapid order by Mr. Charles J. LeClerc. On the menu was printed the following:

PROGRAM OF THE DAY.

The News of the Week in a Condensed Form.

[News items for this column may be sent to our Ohio News Bureau, care of Mr. A. B. Greener, 908 Franklin Ave., Columbus, O.]

Gallaudet College students had their gala time last week, in connection with Presentation Day exercises. This week, the Ohio Institution followed suit in a similar manner, though, of course, on a less grand scale. On Tuesday evening occurred the class reception given by the Trustees and Superintendent, at which the officers and teachers participated. The receiving was done in the east B parlor, and the members of the class received congratulations and well wishes of all. At eight o'clock an adjournment was taken to the children's dining-room, where a tempting dinner was served to all, amid flowers and plants. Dinner over, Superintendent Jones arose, and read a letter from Governor Nash, expressing regret at his inability to share in the occasion. However, sent his greetings and best wishes to the class.

Superintendent Jones congratulated the members of the class upon the success it had attained, both in school and at the trades, and extended to each member his hearty good wishes upon leaving school. Trustee Norpell, for the trustees, referred to the fine condition of the school, and he was proud of the record being made.

Upon Principal Patterson devolved the main address, and he delivered in his usual happy vein. He referred to the record the institution had made the past few years, in its standing among sister schools, and this was plainly evident by the number of students sent to Gallaudet College, and even there, the Ohio boys and girls keep up their reputation for good work. Only last week four Buckeyes were presented there for degrees, and in addition, the Superintendent of the Institution had conferred upon him the honorary degree of M. A. In closing his remarks he called for three cheers for the class of '02, for the Institution, and for J. W. Jones, M. A. It's needless to say they were given with vim and vigor. The rest of the evening was spent socially in the B center, music and song helping to pass the time.

Wednesday afternoon, school-rooms and shops were closed, and the time was given up to a holiday.

At 7 P. M. the chapel held a large and appreciative concourse of people to witness the '02's graduation exercises. The stage itself was a bower of green, with a forest scene bedecked with choice flowers and potted plants. The class was seated at the back in a semicircle, the spotless white dresses of the ladies contrasting to fine effect with the boys in black. The trustees, Rev. Francis W. Howard, Superintendent Jones, Hon. L. D. Bonebrake, State Commissioner of Common Schools, Principal Patterson and Leonce A. Odebrecht, who acted as interpreter, were the other occupants of the platform.

In opening the exercises, Superintendent Jones stated that all the members of the class had prepared an essay or oration, but to save time only two of the members would speak their pieces, the Salutatorian and Valedictorian.

Following is the class, and program:

The address of Mr. Bonebrake was mainly devoted to education. Hon. G. W. Glover, in presenting the diplomas to the class, spoke as follows:

Superintendent, Teachers, Ladies and Gentlemen, and Members of the Class of 1902.—You have completed the course of study satisfactorily to the Board of Trustees, your teachers and Principal. I am informed that twelve years ago you began at the end, one end. That was the beginning, and in twelve years you have completed the course. You have been looking to this end, and to-night you have reached it. Your work has been thorough; your teachers have been anxious; your superintendent has been very anxious. You have all the facilities and opportunities for education given you that the great State of Ohio can furnish. We feel grateful to know that the State has taken so great interest in the cause of education. We feel proud of this Institution because we have such intelligent pupils here. It is true that you have been deprived of one of your senses, but there has been provision made for you. You must not feel that you are through with study now. In one sense of the word, you have only begun. Perhaps some of you can still have the privilege of pursuing your studies. In fact, I am informed that one of your number will go to Gallaudet College, Washington, D. C. We feel proud to say that the Institution is training its graduates to enter the Freshman class at Gallaudet College, and it is the only Institution that is doing this. We consider this an honor; it speaks well for the Institution, it speaks well for the teachers and officers, and it speaks a great deal for your superintendent and principal.

Now, young ladies and gentlemen, you will have to investigate, you will have to study, you have a great deal to learn, and I wish to impress upon you this evening that you still press forward. You have a great deal that you can avail yourselves of. You can study nature and learn great things from her—study the mountains, lakes, rivers, trees and flowers. In addition to these things, you can study history, read biography, learn of the lives of our great men and women, follow their example and endeavor to make yourselves useful. This Institution has a great reputation and we expect to keep it up. We look to you to do much toward this end. The Ohio Institution has a great reputation all over the world. You remember that a few years ago educators of the deaf met here in National Convention. Every one was much delighted with what they saw at that time; and the reputation of the Institution has been spreading ever since. We are glad to know that we have such an efficient Superintendent. We are glad to know that he has been recognized with the degree of Master of Arts from Gallaudet College. We feel proud that this honor has been shown him. We are glad to know that we have a Principal, so well educated and so well informed. He is a man who has the same loss with you, and it should encourage you to see what he has accomplished.

Now, on the part of the Trustees, I congratulate you. We have seen members of other classes graduate and are satisfied that your examination is as worthy as any. In presenting these diplomas, we feel that we are giving simply what you have earned. We want you to be useful in life. We want you to be good, to establish character, for without that you amount to nothing. Remember that character is everything. Be careful of your associations. Associate with those who are good and noble, and remember that you should all be Christians. You have an influence and we want you to so live that when you pass off of the scene of action, the world will be the better for your having lived in it. And now on the part of the Board of Trustees, I present you these diplomas and once more congratulate you.

Benediction was then pronounced, and after the pupils had left the chapel, friends, officers, and teachers came upon the stage and congratulated the members of the class.

The class was well remembered with flowers, and several of the members were the recipients of presents, Miss Greene carrying off the honors in this line with a fine diamond ring from her parents. Mr. Albert Ohlemacher, Physical Instructor, was at the Institution Monday, and the next day departed for Hamden Junction. There, Thursday noon, an interesting event occurred. It was his marriage to Miss Nutt. The ceremony took place at the home of the bride, and was performed by Rev. Joseph Clarke, of this city who is Secretary of the State Sunday School Association. In uniting them, Dr. Clark first spoke the rite orally and afterwards spelled it with his fingers. The ring ceremony was also used. Dr. Clark learned the finger alphabet when in his boyhood days by association with a deaf man, and later when he had a charge down near Hamden Junction, he met and became acquainted with Miss Nutt, and his finger language became very useful to him.

Owing to the recent death of Miss Nutt's father, the wedding was necessarily a quiet one, only immediate relatives and friends being present, Mr. Wm. H. Zorn being one of the favorite latter. Miss Ida Ohlemacher, sister of the groom, was also present, accompanying Mr. Zorn down from here. The bride was in receipt of a large number of fine and costly presents from friends.

After partaking of a wedding dinner, the party boarded the train for Columbus, amid a shower of rice and old shoes, which place they reached in the evening. They were callers at the Institution Friday, receiving congratulations and well wishes of their numerous friends here. They will return to Hamden Junction to-day and be there through the summer, more or less, and when school opens in the fall will make this city their home.

The Board of Trustees held its monthly meeting Wednesday afternoon and transacted considerable matters of importance. First of all, the present force of teachers was re-elected for another year. The plumbing on the girl's side of the house is badly in need of overhauling, and the steward was authorized to give the contract for the work to best bidder. Most of the married men employees, who have taken their meals at the Institution, will hereafter board out, and for this purpose an increase of wages was made to them; the lady employees also received an addition to their monthly wages. Arrangements were also made to have the Institution supplied with natural gas. A new well for a better water supply is to be added; also better facilities for a hot water supply. The old asphalt floors on the east and west sides are to be replaced with cement. Painting, where it is necessary was also ordered to be done.

Mr. T. C. Mueller, a graduate of this school, but now down in the wilds of Arkansas, earning his bread and butter by the sweat of his brow, tried to puzzle the officials of the post-office authorities recently. He mailed a letter at St. Pierre, N. D., May 11, and instead of putting the usual address on the envelope, he drew a map of Ohio, with the boundary States; within this the location of the Capital, Columbus, giving a short section of the city; a cross (x) within this, and the letters, O. D. M. I. He gave the names of the streets which lounded the destination to which he wanted the letter to go. The railway mail clerks easily made out that the letter was for Columbus, Ohio. When it reached here Assistant Postmaster Krum deciphered, put on his specs, and made short work in finding out to where the letter was to go, viz., Institution for Deaf-Mutes. The letter was brought here and it proved to be for the Chronicle.

This week, two blind-deaf children were added to the list of pupils of the Institution, and both are colored. The first is John Porter Riley, aged 14, and brought from Cleveland by Miss Louise Stegman, who has taken special interest in him. His home is really Akron. He became blind and deaf at the age of 8 years from measles, followed by pneumonia and paralysis. The other child was brought yesterday from Napoleon, Ohio. Her name is Francis May Valentine, and is 13 years old. Both of these pupils will be placed in charge of Miss Grace Hedden, who for some time past has been taking instruction for this kind of work.

Misses Louise and Carrie Fessenbeck, teachers in the Cincinnati Public Schools, were with friends here Sunday. Others from out-of-town were Fred Hunter, of Upper Sandusky, W. N. Smith, of near Toledo, and Walter Thirsk, of Akron.

As a relief from the weekly debate or story telling monotony, Clonian Society, Saturday evening, enjoyed a "Mock Trial," and it proved a hit indeed. It was in charge of Messrs Wm. H. Zorn and Gus Beckert. The culprit was Henry Mundry, and his crime touching Harry Rosomer for his sparkler. Wm. Zorn was the Judge, Gus Beckert the Sheriff. The Attorney for the State, John Mueller, and for the defendant, Albert Bannan. After a great deal of quizzing and cross-quizzing, and a summing up by the attorneys, the case was submitted to the jury, which came in with a verdict of acquittal.

The Independents had a game with the Commercial Travelers Saturday afternoon, on the home grounds. It was well played on both sides, but ended in the defeat of the Independents. Score, 10 to 8.

Wednesday afternoon, the Central High School was the attraction, and in this game the Independents came out ahead, 20 to 11.

We have received an invitation to be with the Evansville deaf, May 30th-June 1st, and participate in a picnic and literary and religious programme. Sorry duties will preclude us the pleasure of being present. We trust however, the affair will prove highly enjoyable to all who may be there and that it will be success.

Friends here of Miss Mary Fowles, for a long time a resident of this city but now in New York, have received cards announcing her forthcoming marriage, May 30th, to Mr. Frank Johnston.

The conferring of the honorary degree of Master of Arts by Gallaudet College upon Superintendent J. W. Jones, of this Institution, was a graceful compliment, and worthily bestowed. Mr. Jones has surely earned the honor by his work for the deaf since he became connected with the Institution, in 1895.

PHILADELPHIA.

A Very Enjoyable Social Event.

INJURED AT BASEBALL.

Society and Personal.

News items for this column should be sent to James S. Reider, 1538 Dover Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

One of the most enjoyable social events of the season amongst our folks took the form of a party in honor of Miss Louise Lauer, of Rochester, N. Y., and Miss Edith Marshall, also of New York, given by Mr. Geo. T. Sanders and Mr. Howard E. Arnold jointly, at the former's Mt. Airy residence, on Tuesday evening, May 13th. As if the guests in attendance had chosen for their motto these familiar lines—

"A little fun now and then
Is relish'd by the wisest men."

They early started the fun making, which increased as the evening grew in hours. Some of the humor was decidedly refreshing and original. Some of it also proved "disastrous to some," especially that which related to the "alleged" unlucky number 13, (it being the 13th day of May) resulting in broken eye-glasses. However, the incident did not mar the pleasure of the guests one bit and they continued at it until called into the dining-room to partake of delicious refreshments.

The Misses Lauer and Marshall have been having a most pleasant visit in the Quaker City, and the above event will doubtless be long remembered by both them and the other participants. Miss Marshall left for home on Thursday, the 15th, and Miss Lauer may leave shortly.

Among the guests were: Miss Louise Lauer, Miss Edith Marshall, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. T. Sanders and children, Rev. J. M. Koehler, Mr. S. G. Davidson, Mr. J. A. McIlvaine Jr., Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Ziegler, Miss Gertrude Parker, Miss Lou Little, Mrs. J. S. Reider, Mr. Otto Herold, Miss Addie Postel, Mr. John O'Rourke, of Boston, Mass., Mr. H. E. Stevens, Miss Susan McKee, and Mr. Howard E. Arnold.

The following was reported in the Sunday Record:—

"Adam Harting, 25 years old, was carried into Cooper Hospital for dead last evening. He was unconscious, and for a long time the doctors were unable to detect any heartbeats. Slowly, however, the young man's heart began its functions, and late last night he was somewhat better, though not out of danger."

Harting is a deaf-mute. He boarded at No. 2222 North Fourth street, this city, and yesterday afternoon he went with others to play ball on the lots at Eighth and Vine streets, Camden. A hard-batted ball struck him over the heart, and he fell heavily to the ground. He was hurried to the hospital, and the doctors say he may not recover."

The injured man is a Philadelphian. He was seen on Sunday morning at his home, by a friend of the reporter, who found him recovering, though pale and weak then.

Thomas Smith, a deaf-mute, aged 5 years, was reported by the papers, last week, to have been run over by a trolley car, and so badly injured that his left leg had to be amputated near the knee. He was playing in front of his home, 1970 Hunting Park Avenue, and, being unable to hear the bell warning him of his danger, he was struck before the motorman could bring the car to a standstill. He was taken to the Samaritan Hospital.

We are pleased to state that Mr. J. A. McIlvaine, Jr., has been re-appointed to teach for another year at the Mt. Airy School, the Board of Directors having reversed its former decision. We understand that Dr. Crouter and others helped to bring this about, and thus they deserve the thanks of not only Mr. McIlvaine, but also of his numerous deaf friends hereabouts. Mr. McIlvaine is too good a man to be allowed to go for any but weighty reasons. He has not only shown his fitness to teach the deaf, but, also, that he is a willing worker in advancing the welfare of the deaf out of school.

President Allabough, of the Pennsylvania Society, has made the following appointments:—
Executive Committee.—Messrs. B. R. Allabough, G. M. Teegarden and Jas. S. Reider.

Committee of Arrangements.—Messrs. Daniel Paul, Chairman, R. M. Ziegler and Jas. S. Reider.

Committee on Revision of the Constitution and By-Laws.—Messrs. R. M. Ziegler, Chairman, G. M. Teegarden, Jas. S. Reider, Thomas Breen and B. R. Allabough.

Now for the arrangements of the next Convention! The date has already been fixed as August 21, 29, and 23.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry R. Smith, assisted by friends, tendered a party, to Mrs. Carrie McVea at their home near Wayne, on Saturday evening, seventeenth of May. A very pleasant evening was spent by all present. Mr. and Mrs. Smith did themselves proud on this occasion in arranging the dining-table. It was quite out of the ordinary and they well deserved the eoniums passed upon them by those present. Not only do we speak of beauty of the table, but of all that filled it and of which there was more than enough. It was like a treat to make the event more memorable. After eleven thirty o'clock the members dispersed for their homes. Those present were Mrs. Carrie McVea, Mr. and Mrs. Henry R. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. F. Stiles, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. M. Pennell, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. M. Purvis, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. A. Wuchter, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Partington, of Chester; Mr. and Mrs. Thos. D. Delp, of Upland; Mr. and Mrs. M. Higgins, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. S. Reider and daughter, Misses Cora Ford, Lot Little, Dora Kintzel, Mary E. Taylor, Carrie Aspinwall, Mrs. M. J. Syle, Mrs. E. L. Dorfner and Messrs. Thomas Breen, Harry G. Gunkel, Howard E. Arnold, Ira Poorman, Thos. E. Jones, Henry Grth, Daniel Paul and Herbert Paul.

Two deaf-mutes will be confirmed at St. Luke's Church, Germantown, next Sunday afternoon. Rev. J. M. Koehler will present them to the Bishop, and some one may interpret the Bishop's sermon. The service will begin at 4 o'clock.

Mr. McIlvaine received a telegram to-day, Monday, announcing the death of Mrs. Jay Cooke Howard, on Saturday evening last. It was a shock to Mr. Howard's friends in this city, and he has their heartfelt sympathy.

Prof. Emil Beck, graduate of the Teacher's Physical Culture Seminary, Milwaukee, Wis., and feather weight champion wrestler of America, delivered an instructive lecture on "Physical Culture," before the Clerc Literary Association, last Wednesday evening, 15th of May. Prof. Beck spoke orally and Herbert Syle interpreted in signs. A good attendance was present and the lecture seemed much appreciated.

Miss Mary Miller, who is living with Mrs. Syle, was pleasantly remembered and agreeably surprised on her 78th birthday, last Tuesday evening, May 13th. Mrs. Syle invited a number of friends to surprise her on this evening, and the surprise was most successful. The nice old lady received the congratulations of all and many useful presents. After a pleasant time was spent, refreshments were served. Those present were Miss Mary Miller, Mrs. M. J. Syle, Messrs. Edward and Herbert Syle, Irene and Walter Syle, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Paul, Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Smith, Miss Emma Shields, Mrs. T. Breen, Mrs. E. L. Dorfner, Mrs. S. K. Trist, Mrs. A. Chapman, Miss M. E. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. M. Higgins, Mrs. Buckingham, Miss Dora Kintzel, Harry F. Smith, R. W. Dailey, Mrs. Maggie Jones, Miss Hannah Reidy, Chandler Paul, Mrs. L. A. Harrison, Mrs. Campbell and Misses C. L. Ford and E. Loughbridge.

Miss Grace Koehler has gone to Scranton to take a position, and will therefore settle down there. We are sorry to lose her for she was beginning to be of good service at All Souls', and is liked by all the parishioners who know her.

Next week we shall report the Stump wedding anniversary.

Wilkesbarre, Pa.

At the present writing a few deaf-mutes are still working in the coal mines hereabouts, but for how much longer, we know not.

"Professor" has not yet resumed working in the brick yard, owing to repairs on the two engines and one new mould. He hopes these will be fixed in a week or so. In the meantime he has been working for Contractor Schmitt elsewhere.

A well dressed young man giving as his name Joseph Sutton, and his home Allegheny, Pa., was arrested, on Monday morning, May 12th. He was caught going from hotel to hotel playing the "deaf-mute" game and asking for money. He acknowledged to Mayor Price that he was an impostor, and was let off with a two-day free board in the lock-up.

Victor, the eight-year old son of Joseph Hartley, of Wilkesbarre, died of typhoid fever.

Misses Edith and Lily M. Evans sailed for Wales on the Cunard Liner "Lucania," on May 9th, and it is reported that they arrived at their destination safely. They will stay there for two years.

Some of the deaf of this locality expect to go down to Philadelphia next August to attend the Convention of the Pennsylvania Society for the Advancement of the Deaf,—if nothing happens.

THE REAL ESTATE OWNER

has the whole earth for a foundation to his fortune. Real Estate is the only permanent fortune. Real Estate, in a rapidly growing city, is a fortune that grows greater and greater all of the time and produces an income at the same time. Duluth is a rapidly growing city. The Howard Investment Company was incorporated in 1896, with an authorized capital of $500,000, to acquire improved real estate in Duluth. That is the only kind of real estate it owns or will own. Every investment made for the Company has the careful attention of its officers, who live in Duluth. The Company pays cash for all of its holdings. It has no indebtedness. By taking stock in the Howard Investment Company you are simply buying an interest in unencumbered improved real estate in Duluth, one of the most rapidly growing and promising cities in the United States.

Preferred Stock is $50 per share, 5 per cent. is guaranteed on this stock.

Common Stock is $25 per share. It will pay at least 6 per cent. from the start.
